

Home learning, we're all in this together!

When we heard school was closing,
We all gave a cheer!
Until we all realised it could last the school year.

The teachers gave us work,
to complete until lockdown ends.

The last day was sad,
as we said goodbye to our friends.

We now wake up to a new routine,
enjoying PE on our TV screens.
Conquering the kicks,
as taught by Joe Wicks.
We play spot the difference,
and learn new things,
in-between his live workout streams.

Then our parent's help teach us,
through lessons online.
At least maths and English,
are handed in on time!
Some days are easy,
some days are hard.
But at least we keep trying,
and that's the best part.
Because everyone knows,
we made a really good start!

It seems a bit strange,
this new way of life.
There are lots of emotions,
as the days and weeks go by,
and they can change in an instant,
without us knowing why.

Sometimes we are happy,
Sometimes we are sad.
We might even feel angry,
or a little bit mad.
We can get frustrated,
and not understand why.
Taking it out on others,
without knowing why.

These feelings are normal,
they are there to be felt.
Go and talk to an adult,
who is there to help.
They know how we feel,
sometimes they feel it too.
They can help find a way,
to help us get through.

They can teach us new things,
we can learn new skills.
We can help with the cooking,
and learn how to bake.
With the help of our families,
there is so much we can make.
As we help wash the dishes,
we can talk about our day.
Let's not hide our feelings,
but put them out on display.

We can still go for walks,
and ride on our scooters and bikes.
Maybe play in the garden,
and have water fights.
We can play with our toys,
and read lots of books.
Make up our own stories,
with characters and scenes.
Draw and colour,
creating our dreams.

The possibilities are endless,
who would have thought,
that when things seem so different,
they're not that different at all.

We still have each other,
even though we're apart.
We can chat on the classroom,
and share what we've learned.
Get advice from our teachers,
who keep us engaged.

Talk to family and friends through video chat and calls,
make the most of the moment we stayed behind walls.
To help us stay safe and look after each other,
we do what we can, and say thank you each day,
to all those who help us in every way.

So, let's get through this together,
because it won't be long.
Before those school doors reopen,
and we'll see everyone.
Family and friends will be reunited again,
As we share our home learning adventure with them.

We are now stronger than ever,
this won't last forever.
When lockdown is over,
the whole world will see,
it has made an even better me!
